Summer 2022 High School Summer Research Intern Program

The College of Engineering is excited to offer this new program which gives qualified high school students the opportunity to work on LSU College of Engineering research teams during summer 2022. Although this is an exciting new opportunity, it will require dedication from each student selected to participate, as well as the support of their parent(s)/guardian(s).

As parent/guardian of (student's name) _____ I understand and agree to the details of this program as listed below:

- Students will not be paid for their work in this program.
- This opportunity will require about 15-20 hours of work per week during the months of June and July, for a total of about 120-140 hours. Students should be present during these months.
- Though work schedules may vary and be flexible depending on each research team, the majority of this work will take place in-person on LSU's campus, and transportation to and from campus is the responsibility of each student/family.
- This opportunity may require students/families to make parking arrangements on campus with LSU Parking and Transportation. This may require the purchase of summer/visitor LSU Parking Permits.
- Students will be required to complete required safety paperwork and trainings at the direction of LSU, the College of Engineering, and the research team. Some of this may occur during the spring 2022 semester. Failure to complete these trainings will result in students being removed from the program.
- Students will be accountable for their work responsibilities by both the College of Engineering and individual research teams. Failure to show up to work and/or fully engage in research will result in removal from the program.

By signing this form below, I understand my role in supporting my student throughout the High School Summer Research Intern program at the LSU College of Engineering in summer 2022 and agree to the details listed above.
